At one place about seven miles from Sandusky an enormous barn about 100 by 300 feet was lifted from its foundation, carried about 100 feet and dropped across the highway.

All traffic on the two secondary roads from the south and on the main Columbus road was blocked by fallen trees for miles. Vigorous sanitation measures were taken as a result of crippling of the water supply. Engineers of the National Guard co-operated with city authorities in putting the water system back into operation. A high wind blew all day and every precaution was taken against a outbreak of fire. Special emergency fire fighting apparatus was sent here by guard units.

SEVEN MORE DIE AS STORM SWEEPS ON
(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
PITTSBURGH (Pa.) June 29.—Gradually blowing itself out, the storm which wrought such great havoc Saturday night in Ohio continued its work of destruction in western Pennsylvania.

Causing the death of a house, seven persons and injury to scores of others and property damage that will run into millions. From Lake Erie, the storm swept southeast, reaching the western town of Erie, and causing much damage at Kane, Meadville, Warren and Youngstown. The high wind, which had fallen to a velocity of forty miles an hour when the storm reached the lake, was accompanied by a heavy downpour which fell on the city for three hours.

INVESTIGATORS REPORT ON JAPANESE "INCIDENTS" Facts Regarding Murders of Nippon Gamblers and Attempted Belvedere Oustings

The request of the Japanese government of its local representatives for the facts regarding two recent local incidents in which Japanese were reported to Tokio as having been made the victims of American violence, and the feeling thereby aroused, has caused The Times to have made a careful and disinterested inquiry into the facts, which are here presented for general information.

The murder near Point Firmin of two Japanese, whose bodies were found on the 20th inst., and the threatening on the 19th of a Japanese family living at Belvedere had no bearing whatever upon the passage of the exclusion act. It has been determined by the officers who conducted a thorough investigation of both cases.

All of the evidence unearthed in the murder case points conclusively to the fact that the two Japanese were slain as a result of a gambler's feud which arose among the Chinese and Japanese gamblers and in which no Americans were involved. That the bodies were found near the boundary of the military reservation of Fort MacArthur was the work of the slayers, in the opinion of the investigating officers, and could possibly have any connection with the fortifications within the reservation.

Investigation shows that the Belvedere incident was one of those unfortunate affairs where a handful of citizens attempted to meet the efforts of Japanese to settle in their neighborhood by threatening a Japanese family and their landlady unless the family moved from the district. The question of the Japanese making Belvedere a place of residence has been a much-mooted one for nearly two years. That the Japanese family of Belvedere should be threatened at their home at about the same time as the discovery of the bodies of the two murdered Japanese was purely a coincidence, the investigation disclosed.

THE MURDER CASES
Detective Lieutenants Baldwin and Parsons of the San Pedro division found the bodies of the two Japanese early in the morning of the 20th inst. They were lying about sixty-five feet from the Point Firmin road leading to White's Point and about 100 yards from the military reservation fence.

The first body found was identified as that of M. Yoshioka, 41, of 447 1/2 North Spring street. T. Uyehara, 118 East First street, a relative of the dead man, completed the identification.

The second body was identified as that of Kacheme Igarashi, 51, 417 1/2 North Los Angeles street. Near the bodies were found a 32-caliber pistol, a 41-caliber shell and a clip containing nine 32-caliber automatic cartridges. There were bloodstains on the road. Yoshioka's body was lying in a pool of blood, but there was very little blood near the body of Igarashi. There were several bullet holes in Yoshioka's body, while Igarashi had been shot but

BOARD WILL HEAR COURT GRAFT CASE Thrills Seen for Trial on Release of Daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 29.—A full board of twenty-five city magistrates will sit in Chief Magistrate McAdoo's chambers tomorrow afternoon for the hearing of Francis X. Doran, former Traffic Court attendant, charged with falsifying a court record in the case of Miss Abby Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., arrested twice for speeding.

The second time Doran appeared as a witness before Commissioner of Accounts Hirschfeld during his investigation of the reasons why Magistrate Marsh let Miss Rockefeller off with a suspended sentence when she was a second offender, the commissioner told Doran that his transfer to the court was not enough and that he would recommend his dismissal to Magistrate McAdoo.

At a meeting of the magistrates last week, Magistrate Marsh moved that Doran's hearing be put off till fall, but this motion failed, and Doran was given until Monday to prepare his defense.

Former Police Lieutenant Collins who, also was instrumental in changing the record in the case, was retired upon his request during the investigation. Doran's friends today intimated that he didn't propose to be the goat and that something interesting might be expected at tomorrow's hearing.

ANAHEIM, June 29.—Mrs. C. Brotsman, 32 years of age, of 1946 West Sixty-second street, her daughter Mildred, 13, and Mrs. H. J. Killian of Los Angeles were swept beyond their depth while bathing here today, and out into the channel. All three were brought ashore by Robert Sherrill of Los Angeles, and two hours work with a pump motor was required to revive Mrs. Brotsman. She was removed to Seaside Hospital, Long Beach, in a critical condition. The others did not suffer seriously.

There are danger marks at the beach but the three bathers apparently disregarded them.

DISASTROUS FLOODS RAGE OVER MISSOURI
KANSAS CITY, June 29.—Advices received by radio at Jefferson City by Jewell Mayes, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, indicate a disastrous flood in both the Missouri and Northwestern Missouri. His information was that both areas are ragged, torn and threatened to exceed the flood record of 1922. It is a correct estimate of the situation, it means a terrible loss of crops in the two valleys, the richest and most productive in the State. Some of the finest farms in Missouri in the vicinity of Chillicothe and other points are in danger, the reports stated.

Buick Again Holds Center of Interest

Eyes Of Motordom Are Focused On Flint Awaiting Verification Of Reports

THE eyes and ears of motordom and of the vast motoring public are focused on Flint, Michigan, the home of the Buick Motor Company.

Eagerly, everyone is waiting for the makers of Buick to break their silence of months' standing and settle once and for all the speculation as to what the 1925 Buick line will offer. While rumors on rumor has piled up at the headquarters of the Buick organization since the first of the plans for 1925 have been forthcoming among them. Instead, Buick has remained silent and official information has been kept as to the plans for the coming twelve months.

The rumors, however, have been so persistent regarding the new models, especially those that the public generally have seen or seen books about the program. In fact it is almost impossible today to make any discussion of Buick cars without hearing some unverified report as to Buick and its 1925 line.

Flint has served to increase the attention that the trade and public are giving to Buick. The persistency with which the Buick organization is harrassed with inquiry about the 1925 plans, the speculations that are being made on every hand and the rumors that keep coming to the surface—all are serving to create an interest in Buick which only a definite announcement apparently will satisfy.

Is Buick going to build a new Six? Will Buick continue its present body lines? Is Buick going to abandon the valve-in-head type of engine? What new additional models will Buick offer next year?

There are some who think that even on the part of Buick, there is no possibility of such an announcement until the fall of this year.

Some certain trivial happenings have been interpreted to mean all of these things. It is rumored that Buick will offer a new six; it is quite generally considered that the popularity of the present models argues for Buick continuing upon the same type and guaranteeing the general appearance of the cars will not change after they are introduced.

It sounds rather far-fetched to assume that Buick will come aside the valve-in-head engine which has proved such a part of Buick's success in the past. It also is conceded that the 1925 line is sure to contain some new models, which will find a fitting place in the complete Buick line.

Whether or no, or just what are questions that only the announcement will answer. Consequently everyone is watching for the time when Buick will give notice of the coming of a statement about 1925, and particularly by the announcement of the date when the public will have chance to see something.

CHURCH LEAVES WAR TO STATE

Declaratory Act is Invasion of Rights
Religion to Save Souls, Reads Resolution
Minimalism Backed in Illinois Pastoral Meet

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
CHICAGO, June 29.—Resolutions that the church is not an act for the declaration of war, but that it is the duty of the state to declare war, were adopted at the annual meeting of the Illinois Pastoral Conference of the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church, held here today.

More than 250 ministers attended, representing a membership of 1,000,000.

"We deplore war as a calamity," the resolution said, "but we shall not allow ourselves to be drawn into the vortex of the world and its evil. We shall stand for the prevention of war by the maintenance of peace, yet a body of Lutheran Christians that for us as a church to pass upon an act for the declaration of war, would be an invasion upon the prerogative of the state—would be, in other words, a mixture of church and state."

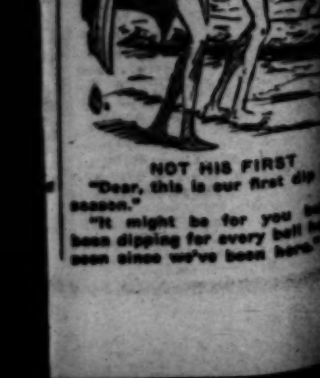

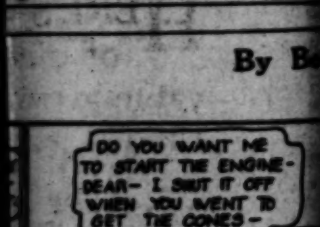

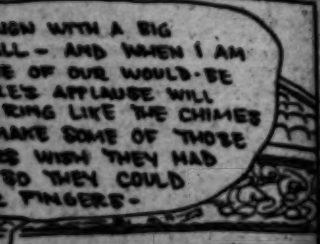

"The one and only purpose of the church," the resolution said, "is the salvation of souls through the preaching of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the world. Let it abide by this best of all tasks, meanwhile exerting its wholesome influence toward the promotion of civic righteousness and peace throughout the world and ready and willing at all times to serve God and country."

"We regard the issue raised between fundamentalism and modernism as a conflict between truth and falsehood, light and darkness, righteousness and sin," the other resolution declared.

"It is not a question of more light on an old subject, but less faith in the old established truths. We accept the Holy Bible as the verbally inspired word of God; we believe Jesus Christ to be the God, begotten of the father from eternity and also true man, born of the Virgin Mary, and we stand for the preaching of the crucified and risen Saviour as the only hope for sinful humanity."

The keeper of the boarding house was frank, if hardly gracious. "I think," said the boarder, "considering the price I pay and the poor accommodations you have, that you might at least treat me with respect."

"Well, sir," said his landlady. "I can't have much respect for people who pay the prices I charge for the sort of accommodations I give."

ON BOARD THE ADVERTISING CLUB'S SPECIAL TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO LONDON, June 29. In a cloudburst Friday night on the line between Omaha and Chicago, the compartments of Carman Smith, George Forsythe, Austin Campbell and others were waterlogged. The train arrived at Chicago, at noon yesterday, three hours late. The delegation was met at the depot by the Chicago Advertising Club and was taken in special busses for a trip through the business section of the city, down Michigan avenue, through Washington Park, through Liberty Park, to the new municipal stadium at Lincoln Park and through the exclusion apartment district. The crowd was dined at a special luncheon at the Marshall Field store and taken on a tour through the establishment. Pictures were taken of the delegation at the station and Washington Park for the Chicago press.

Peggy Hamilton visited the Chicago Tribune office for The Times and gave a fashion interview.

KEMAL FEELING LOSS OF POWER

Deputies Gradually Taking Away His Prestige

Great Turk Leader Finding Himself Embarrassed

Present Rule Almost Like Western Democracy

(BY CLARENCE K. STRUT)
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
CONSTANTINOPLE, June 29.—Along with nationalism, the Kemal program included the more important idea of a western system of democratic government. When the Greek occupation of Smyrna was followed on March 15, 1920, by an Allied army's occupation of Constantinople, Kemal saw his opportunity. On the ground that Islam abhorred the Faithful from obedience to a Caliph who was in the hands of the infidels and that all power in such circumstances reverted to the people, he severed the connection with the capital and called for elections for a Grand National Assembly of the Turks.

No doubt it was not a perfect forecast that had ever been held in the country. The Assembly, which began its career in Angora on April 23, 1920, was certainly the most representative body of Turks that had ever been called together. Its intellectual standard was lower than that of previous Parliaments in Constantinople, but it was much closer to the people, for it comprised all classes, including a large number of small farmers and petty business men. The majority of the members had had no experience in representative government, and few of the leaders were older than 40.

WON'T BE DICTATOR

Many of the Nationalists urged Kemal, because of the war with Greece, to become dictator, to postpone reforms in the government to more normal times. He refused. In his speech to the Assembly when it first convened, he took up the various systems of government that might be adopted. He pointed out that the putting of all power into the hands of one ruler in Turkey.

He quoted the Koran, as usual, to his modern purpose, saying that there could be no dictator in Islam which held even the Caliph responsible and that there was no precedent for the naming of a regent for a Sultan-Caliph, even when he was a prisoner in the hands of the enemy.

Kemal saw clearly that he would weaken himself if he accepted all power, for his enemies could then accuse him of attempting to usurp the throne of Osman.

Kemal concluded that the only alternative, in such circumstances, was to leave the destinies of the nation in the hands of the people. He then outlined a scheme of government which put all power, executive, legislative and judicial, in the Grand National Assembly. This plan was adopted and carried to the point where the Assembly elected each member of the Cabinet individually and held the Cabinet responsible as a unit and as individuals.

Kemal was elected President, but he had no veto power nor was he considered as Chief of State. For the religious reasons given above, no one was recognized as head of the State; this office was vested in the "moral personality" of the Assembly, whence came the official name adopted for the country—"The Government of the Grand National Assembly of Turkey."

ASSEMBLY SUPREME

This system was not simply a paper one. The Assembly actually exercised supreme power and it did not take the deputies very long to guard very jealously their new privileges and authority. When I was in Angora in 1921, I was astonished to find so much power in the hands of a Parliament in time of war. Kemal's influence was, of course, very strong. Whatever he favored was nearly always done.

But this was due to his enormous personal prestige; he never used force or threatened to do so in order to get his ideas adopted. On the contrary, for more than any one else, he was responsible for inculcating the belief into the heads of the deputies that they were the new Sultans of Turkey—a belief that has since grown so strong among them that it is now causing Kemal himself more and more embarrassment.

When the Greek Army was driving victoriously on Angora itself, in the summer of 1921, the Assembly then did confer dictatorial powers on Kemal. But they were limited; he was given full powers for three months, with the provision that if he did not stop the Greek advance within that time, he was to be replaced. Kemal broke the Greek offensive in the great battle of the Sakaria within a few hours of Angora; the Assembly resumed its control of the government, and the war was continued until victory the next year.

PATRIOTIC GIRL

The bishop was conducting the confirmation quiz following the morning service, in the presence of the parents and friends of the large class he had come to confirm. He was asking for volunteers to answer some of the questions after he had satisfied himself that the children had learned their catechism well and that they could answer the main points concerning their faith with accuracy.

"Now what little boy or girl can tell me in what State one should be to receive the sacrament of confirmation?" he asked.

The smallest girl in the class, who had not been given an opportunity thus far to distinguish herself, arose, and replied in loud tones that were easily heard by all present: "In the United States of America."

She did not know what caused the laughter until she reached home, looked between the leaves of her catechism, and saw that one should be in the state of grace.—[Columbus Dispatch]

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

EVERETT (Wash.) June 29.—Four men were seriously burned, three of them wounded, when a one-pound shell from the Coast Guard cutter Arcata exploded the 400-gallon gasoline tank on the thirty-six foot launch M-775 off Skagit Head, near here, yesterday. The launch burned to the water's edge.

The men gave their names as Ernie Jackson, 35 years of age, a mechanic, 1841 West Forty-fifth street, Seattle, shot in the head and burned about the head and face; Robert O'Leary, 23, shot in the left leg, burned about head and face; Moy Sing, burned about head and face; Moy Yik, shot in head, severely burned. They are in a Seattle hospital.

The Arcata signaled to the launch to stop and opened fire with rifles and cannon when the boat attempted to run away, officers state. The revenue men declare the launch to have been loaded with liquor. Inquiry is also being made as to the presence of the Chinese on board.

"Why do you call your wife Chris?"
This was the question put to a man by a lodge brother who had met the wife.

"Because that is her name."

"Seems an odd name for a woman."

"Well, her folks gave her a floral name. Her full name is Chrysanthemum. Of course, I might use the last syllable from the word, but she's never mumm.—(Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph)

WHITE INDIANS PEEP AT WORLD

Primitive Men Prepared to Enter Civilization

Scotch Origin of Natives is Doubted by Party

Blondes in Existence Before
Explorers' Advent

BY RICHARD O. MARSH
(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT)

COLON (Canal Zone) June 21. Our party is resting here today, leisurely packing the ethnological collection which we are bringing back to the States, and trying to prepare our six primitive Indian guests for the amazing trip to civilization which is ahead of them. We probably will leave Tuesday or Wednesday and on our arrival will turn over our "White Indians" to scientists of the Smithsonian Institution and the American Museum of Natural History for a full examination.

The recently published statement that these "White Indians" have been known for years as descendants of a former Scotch colony at Caledonia appears utterly untenable to our party. The Scotch attempted settlement near Caledonia under William Patterson in 1838 but remained there only one year. Their relations with the Indians were very bitter and the latter finally drove them out.

GOLDEN HAIR
It is the Indian belief here, and Spanish records substantiate it, that White Indians existed long before the arrival of the Spanish in 1511. Our White Indians have light hair and are of stocky build. They resemble more the primitive Swedes, as the Scotch have dark or sandy hair. The White Indians we have seen have unusually large, round heads and apparently a considerably larger brain or skull capacity than the average modern races.

They exist in greatest numbers from the region opposite Porto Cabello to the region opposite the Diabla River, mostly secluded in the interior mountain valleys. A few are found near the coast. They are not near Caledonia. We consider the White Indians most probably examples of the law of mutation, as worked out by De Vries, the eminent scientist originating from an ancient, darker stock, probably paleolithic. These questions can be authoritatively determined only by skilled scientists after careful examination and for that reason we are bringing these Indians back with us.

SIX TYPES
Other ethnological investigators formerly considered that all Darien Indians consisted of but two types, the San Blas on the Atlantic and the Cho Col on the Pacific side. We have discovered at least six distinct types: first, the true Guna, very Japanese-like, who formerly occupied the interior of the country near the Colombian border and later migrated to the Tacarcuna mountain region. About 100 years ago the greater majority apparently moved to the upper Chucunaque Valley, where they now are known as the Chucunaque.

Though their ranks have been depleted greatly by disease, they have a common language for the people and a secret language used apparently only by the chiefs. Their mysterious forbidden city was entered only by us, all strangers. The strange White Indians in the tribe are credited by the other Indians with much knowledge and clairvoyance. They are small in stature and use their toes much like fingers.

The Indians of the second type are apparently the original, indigenous neolithic Indians, dark, small and slender, now found in the mountains of the Darien range, at the head of Chucunaque and Bayano rivers. They are very primitive and fierce and evidently mix with the Chucunaque in the Manti River Valley.

FUSED STOCK
The third type is the true San Blas Indian, found along the Atlantic Coast, from the Darien range to the Gulf of Venezuela. They are a mixture of the original indigenous Wallace, fused with Carib stock formerly coming from the West Indies. They are short, stocky, dark, inclined to bow legs and build, water men. They are highly organized and have a hereditary king. The head chief is with us.

The fourth type is the Cho Col Indian of the Pacific Coast. Short, chunky, very Polynesian-like, they have an entirely distinct language, but no central leader. The ship, each river valley being under an independent chief. The fifth type is a strange, distinct, apparently of the original indigenous Wallace, fused with Carib stock formerly coming from the West Indies. They are short, stocky, dark, inclined to bow legs and build, water men. They are highly organized and have a hereditary king. The head chief is with us.

REMARKABLE TYPE
The sixth and most remarkable type is an apparently paleolithic type of Indian. They occupy, in primitive state, the central valley region between the headwaters of the Chucunaque and Bayano rivers, occasionally coming to the San Blas coast to trade goods. They are tall, with very deep, broad chests, powerful muscles, high round heads, broad foreheads and are proud, brave and fierce to strangers.

We are bringing back two splendid specimens of this latter type, a full grown man and woman. I could not find a hair in the man's head, although his hair is cut short. The woman also is of large frame with a fine head and dignified pose. They are the noblest Indians I have ever seen in appearance and character. If our belief is correct that De Vries' theory of the law of mutation applies to the White Indians, these paleolithic type Indians probably are the ancestors of the white.

FIND PYRAMID
We have seen but seven of these Indians and reached only the edge of their country, but evidence of an ancient civilization was present there. One of our party discovered, in the upper Paya River district, a huge monolithic incense stone block, about ten feet long, five feet wide and

DOUG AND MARY 'STRAPPED'

With American Ambassador They Are Embarrassed
in Paris Cafe After Eating and Can't Pay Bill

BY HENRY WALES
(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PARIS, June 29.—Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford and Ambassador Alexander F. Moore, may be popular and well-known in America or Spain, but at least there are some people here who do not know them.

The trio waited for a solid hour in the fashionable Armentonville Restaurant, in the Bois de Boulogne, this morning, unable to pay for their breakfast, hoping that some friend would happen along and pay their bill.

When nobody appeared, Mr. Moore called the head waiter, and said, "I am sorry, but Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford and myself—the American Ambassador to Spain—forgot to bring any money, so we cannot pay for our breakfast; but if you will take our names and addresses we will send you a check for the amount this afternoon."

three feet thick, intricately carved with fine workmanship. We also discovered a large artificially graded earth mound on the Turo River, several feet high, covering about four acres. In the shape of a huge amphitheater. We measured and photographed the relic which is undoubtedly of human workmanship.

We found there, as well, a large, high, rising in profile, similar to the standard type of Mayan or Aztec architecture. We are bringing back a fine ethnological collection consisting of pottery, blow guns, bows and arrows, and other primitive weapons, as well as many other articles of human workmanship.

was selected to enforce quiet and order and was furnished a heavy armed guard. He has been able to restore a semblance of silence and repose some other gathering to further outburst and disturbance.

The threatening looks and determined attitude of any one of the delegates, and all the more so as it appears that the male and female delegates are equally capable of sustained frenzy either when worshipping the party or when turning up a rage against the Republic or the Ku Klux Klan.

The Democrats have not yet taken a stand on the issue of the Ku Klux Klan. They have decided by a majority of one not to do anything to the Ku Klux Klan.

They are now getting ready to choose a victim among a dozen individuals who are willing to serve as a target for the Ku Klux Klan's wrath. The choice apparently is a fair and equitable one. The unfortunate victim is chosen by ballot in which each candidate has an equal chance not to be chosen.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
WASHINGTON, June 29.—The resources and service of the American Red Cross were offered to the storm-stricken areas of Ohio today by Col. L. P. Bickness, acting chairman.

The organization, Col. Bickness said in a telegram to Gov. Donahay, is ready to "provide necessary relief in sections of your State stricken by disaster and in accordance with precedent in Ohio Valley floods, is prepared to receive and disburse any funds raised for the emergency."

"Supplementing relief work already begun by Cleveland and other cities by Red Cross chapters," he said, "we are sending J. Arthur Jeffers, manager, Washington division, Red Cross; Henry M. Baker, national Red Cross director of disaster relief, and Robert E. Bondy, national Red Cross director of war service, to scene of disaster."

He said, "are being driven into panic on the question whether the citizen should worship God according to the dictates of conscience or of politics."

Mr. Lewis will return to the convention Tuesday. He said he thought it would last through the week.

GLOBE FLYERS ON WAY HOME

toons being less buoyant in fresh water than in salt water. Thirdly, due to water soaking as the result of being partially submerged every night, for more than a month, the pontoons weigh from 300 to 350 pounds more than when entirely dry, so that it has become practically a necessity to establish emergency refueling bases between main points, in the last portion of the third division.

RESTS ON ISLAND
The flight arrived at Akayab at 2:15 in the afternoon after having refueled at Basen. At this place they saw Capt. MacLaren, who had just taken off to continue his flight around the world.

Akayab is a seaport town the capital of the district of Akayab, in the Province of Arakan, Burma, 190 miles southeast of Calcutta, across the Bay of Bengal. Although a former fishing village, it has become a flourishing city since 1924, at which time it was selected as the port and capital of the province. It now has a population of about 40,000. Akayab is situated on an island at the estuary of three rivers, on low lying ground. The town is unhealthy, subject to occasional epidemics of cholera and malarial fever is epidemic. The rainfall is very heavy with an annual average of more than 200 inches. During the southwest monsoon the whole country becomes inundated and the rivers swollen.

After remaining overnight in Akayab the flyers proceeded to Calcutta, stopping to refuel at Chittagong on the 27th inst. The town of Chittagong, also known as Islamabad, is one of the most picturesque in the plains of India. The town, extending over an area of over four and a half square miles, is a collection of small villages, interspersed with fields and small hills. Chittagong is the terminal of the Assam-Bengal railway, and is the principal civilian station in the district but also the administration headquarters of the district. After leaving Chittagong the flight had to cross one of the most impenetrable and forbidding jungles in the world, the Delta of the Ganges, known as the Sundarbans, extending for 170 miles along the coast, with a depth of from sixty to eighty miles.

SPARSELY SETTLED
The Sundarbans are believed to have been at one time extensively populated but are now only very sparsely settled. There are no towns or villages and the inhabitants are scattered in small hamlets. The natives of Southern Bengal, over which the flight passed in crossing over the Sundarbans to Calcutta, are of the lowest caste, poor, good-natured people. The average size of the native-owned farm is about ten acres. Their greatest ambition in life is to own some cows and an umbrella. They are, on the whole, a simple people, bound by caste, religion and tradition. Bengal is the great labor mart of India.

The forests contain valuable timber, especially chittagong wood, or Indian mahogany; cane and bamboos are luxuriant and ferns and orchids grow everywhere. The vegetation is that of a moist, tropical climate. Tigers, black and clouded leopards are found; also some bears and elephants in addition to numerous species of the smaller animals. Birds and reptiles are numerous. All the snakes are venomous. The land snakes are the great hamadryad, the Indian python, the green tree-snakes and cobras. The water snakes are the cobra and the hamadryad.

The flight landed at Newabani, near Ichapore, about fifteen miles from Calcutta. Arrangements had been completed by First Lieutenant Henry H. Halverson, advance officer of the four divisions of the route. The airplanes, after landing in the river will be hoisted from the water and after the pontoons have been removed and the landing gear with wheels attached will be towed on their own wheels by motor truck to the Dumdum airfield, at which point they will receive such necessary repairs and replacements as are found necessary.

NEW MOTORS
Calcutta is the main flight supply and repair base of Southern Asia. The planes will be equipped with new motors and wings and will be transformed from seaplanes to land planes. The wings of the planes, when they reached Calcutta, were beginning a rapid deterioration due to the effect of salt air and extreme heat in addition to the severe buffeting of wind and sea since leaving the United States three months ago. At Calcutta the flight will be rejuvenated and the officers of the expedition will face the remaining 13,000 miles of their journey with practically new airplanes.

From Calcutta to London the flight will be made with the world's largest seaplanes, which will be capable of a greater speed and a greater fuel capacity and faster progress will be made over this portion of the route than heretofore has been possible. Present plans contemplate the arrival of the flight in England not later than July 25.

At Calcutta the flight was welcomed by the officials of the British Indian government, Mr. Weddell, the American Consul-General, the officers of the British Royal Air Force and Lieut. Malcolm S. Lawton, the advance officer of the third division, who was responsible for the preparations made for the flight throughout the third division from Shanghai to Calcutta, and in addition responsible for the safety of the flight throughout that portion of the route.

MODERN CITY
Calcutta is the capital and the principal city of British India. It is situated on the east bank of the Hugli River, one of the mouths of the Ganges, almost eighty miles from the sea. The city is the terminus of the principal Indian railway system. It is also a great seaport, though navigation is hindered by the shifting sand banks of the river.

BRITISH FLYERS
ARRIVE AT BANGKOK
BANGKOK (Siam) June 29.—After a terrific two-hour battle with the worst storms of the present season, Squadron Leader A. S. MacLaren of the British round-the-world flight, arrived here today from Tokyo.

The crossing of the Malay Peninsula, with its treacherous mountain peaks obscured in masses of low-hanging clouds, nearly spelled disaster for the expedition.

The flyers expect to leave tomorrow for Haiphong by way of Vinh, although reports received here today state that treacherous weather conditions obtain along the entire east coast of Indo-China.

GALLUSES COME BACK INTO USEFULNESS

The countryside is the natural conservator of custom, the city the destroyer. Galluses, it is said, happens that what city folk take to and grasp as novel is an ancient story in the rural regions. There have been galluses in the country since retirement, exclusion or estrangement.

When the summonsers, for instance—those contrivances by which man for generations, whether of the city or the country, symbolized his desire to be connected with the world in more ways than one. They were canvases, you might say, for the galluses to be pasted upon. It required ingenuity when buttons abandoned their duty. The summonsers would have done so to make hair-raising escapes from policemen. They would have done so to divert the homicide course of a bullet. Heaven knows what some of the neoprene galluses would have done. They utilized these utilities to picture extraneous agents.

When it came the time when summonsers were denounced by the dictators of fashions, and the even more despotic dictators of the belt. The belt became the thing. It mattered not that not all hips had galluses, but that all hips had a belt. The galluses were the abettor of the belt. It mattered not that it made the galluses look like a gallus. It was adopted even though it broke summonsers manufacturers and rendered them into galluses. The galluses moved from our sight, they were hidden in the folds of the drapes, their wares invitingly over the edge of the small, peripatetic counter.

Recently, the summonsers, as a command—has gone forth the summonsers must be resumed. The galluses have been resurrected with such a plan that nothing else will save the true gentleman from looking 'em. Today's galluses are made solely from the shop windows. Supply and demand are virtually simultaneous.

The tailor's summons involve only the urban areas and the level of the countryside occupies the young manhood, the elderly and the middle-aged men of rural parts are already prepared to suspenders. They realized their worth years ago in fitting emergency. They have never been unfaithful in holding flinders and flippers tops together. All things come to him who waits. The galluses, or quite exterminated by the apparel.—[Toledo Blade.

BUT FEW ANTELOPE LEFT

Less than half a century ago well within the memory of many of my readers—there were, according to a government estimate, 75,000 antelope in the United States. Today, there are fewer than 22,000 antelope in the entire country, and of these about 10,000 are in the western part of North Dakota.

An unquestioned authority states that "Some of the species of antelope which were until recently found in immense herds on the plains of South Africa have been exterminated by the 'white man.' Every effort is being made by the North Dakota game and fish commission to protect the fully small number of antelope which are making their last stand in the Bad Lands of this state and to encourage the sportsman to kill game boys will win in the end."—T. W. C. Taylor in La Moure County Chronicle.

The accused was brought to County Jail here late Saturday night and will remain until some time later when Hall, apparently being bullet from the slayer's revolver through Hall's abdomen, caused the banker's death within four hours.

Mrs. Hall, widowed by the tragedy, was the only eyewitness. She will testify against Monahan, though the latter has signed a confession that he shot Hall.

Trouble over a deal to sell real estate is given as the cause of the shooting. Monahan, arraigned, went to the Escondido Bank asked for Hall, apparently being Hall still was connected with the institution. He was directed to Hall's ranch, where he appeared at noon. Hall returned with greeting and they went into house.

Mrs. Hall said her husband visited the visitor to be seated, that Monahan's next act was to draw his weapon. Mrs. Hall screamed and her husband, Monahan, without a word, left house, she said.

Mrs. Hall immediately called doctor and the City Marshall Monahan was arrested as he driving away. Hall came to Escondido four years ago and entered the banking business. Prior to that time he was cashier in Citizens' Savings Bank of Los Angeles.

Dist. Atty. Chester Kempley, he would endeavor to have Monahan tried soon for murder and admit he had shot the extreme penalty.

Late Reports From California's Great Petroleum Pools

NEW WELLS IN AT HUNTINGTON

Three Added to List During Last Week

Largest by Standard Oil; Pumps 200 Barrels

Seventy-four Holes Are Now Being Drilled in Field

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 29.—Three new wells were added to the list in this field during the past week. The largest of these was the Standard Oil Company's No. 4, which was placed on production at 455 feet and is pumping 200 barrels of 20 degree gravity oil per day. This well is making the best showing of any that has been drilled in the flat east of the city. There are several abandoned wells in this neighborhood.

The second completion of the week was the Standard's No. 12, which was completed at 2900 feet. It contains an oil string of 510 feet of screen casing. The tubing was run to 2200 feet and it is pumping 115 barrels daily of 24-degree gravity oil. This well is located on the B lease of the Standard near the Bolea Chico Gun Club property. The gauge at the casing head showed 185 pounds gas pressure.

PRODUCING ON PUMP

The Associated Oil Company completed the Miller-Kick No. 41, which was drilled to 472 feet where it did not make much of a showing. It was plugged back to 3400 feet and a production test was made. It is now producing seventy-five barrels daily on the pump.

There is one new rig in the field. The Bell of Montebello Oil Company is building this rig on Garfield street to replace the Van Ordel No. 4, which was destroyed by fire some time ago. This brings the number of rigs in the field to 454, of which seventy-five are drilling, 324 on production, seventy-two are incomplete and twenty-eight have been abandoned.

FALLING OFF

The manufacture of casing-head gasoline is falling off in Orange county, according to recent figures. The decline for April and May was about 14 per cent per month, and it is predicted that the June decline will be sharper. This reduction in output is eliminating many of the so-called bootleg plants.

The production of casing-head gas in this field is now 100,000 gallons daily, with no surplus on hand. There are a dozen plants in operation.

Work Begun on Gasoline Plant for Taft Field

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
TAFT, June 29.—Work on a new $150,000 gas compressor and absorption plant for the Pacific Gasoline Company has been started adjacent to the Taft-Bakersfield highway, about five miles north of this city. The new plant will consist of six compressing units and one absorption unit, according to E. B. Cameron, and will handle 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas, making about 10,000 gallons of gasoline a day.

The plant when completed will be one of the largest of its kind in the West. The company has eight other plants in Southern California. The plant will serve an area ten miles long and three miles wide. It should be completed in August.

The company is completing another plant of similar size in the Elk Hills district, consisting of one absorption and nine compressing units, which will be ready for operation in a few days. Reconstruction of the Fellers plant is under way, one absorption unit being added.

LEASING KERN LAND

Southern California Gas Areas on Early Drilling Get Areas

Southern California oil operators are reported to be actively leasing prospective oil land south and west of Bakersfield, in the district between Stines Schoolhouse and Panama. The lessees are agreeing to start drilling thirty days after securing the rights to 3000 acres.

George P. Getty started a campaign some time ago to pick up leases in the Panama district but later gave up the attempt. It is asserted, because he could not get co-operation from the landowners. The names of the principals in the present operations have not been announced.

NEW WELL PLANNED

Further Tests are to Be Made in La Mirada Section

A new well is to be drilled in the La Mirada district where tests have been drilled by the Scientific Oil Company and the Petroleum Products Syndicate.

The new hole is to be drilled by the Associated Oil Company on the McNalley lease, and a rig is now being built. The two wells of that district are standing idle. The Scientific Oil Company's hole is down 3800 feet and the Petroleum Products' well is down 5900 feet. Showings of an encouraging nature have been found in both the wells. It is stated.

PAN-AMERICAN GOES AHEAD IN ELK HILLS

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
TUPMAN, June 29.—Contrary to reports that the Pan-American Petroleum Company is abandoning its campaign of drilling on its properties in the Elk Hills territory, work is going ahead at a moderate rate. The No. 11-F well on the Crampton lease, on Section 2, 21-24, has just been spudded and reports from the well are to the effect that the hole is being sunk rapidly.

WASCO TEST HELD PROOF OF THEORIES

Trail Blazer Group Says San Joaquin Valley Strata Extend Across Area

Trail Blazer No. 1 well of the Main Oil Company being drilled four miles southwest of Wasco in Kern county, has reached a depth of 3400 feet, according to Col. T. H. Minor, president of the company.

Col. Minor asserts that the log of the Trail Blazer has proved the theory of geologists that the oil structure of the Kern county fields extends across the floor of the San Joaquin Valley.

"We have gone through a formation similar to the oil-bearing formation of the Elk Hills," he says. "We have had gas and oil showings and are in a formation that may prove interesting at any time."

Col. Minor announces that seven rotary outfits will be started to work drilling up the new field as soon as the test well is brought in successfully by his company. In the meantime other companies quietly are picking up acreage in the Shafter-Rio Bravo district.

Leonard Jones of Los Angeles, who recently acquired a large acreage in the Weed Patch-Arvin district of Kern county, announces that his first well on Section 22, 20-29 will be spudded in today.

The Foster interests of Los Angeles have proposed the construction of a new two-mile thoroughfare through the downtown section of the city to relieve traffic congestion. The estimated cost is $25,000,000.

Gardena No. 1 and Her Day Crew

New Well Gives Field Jump in Oil Production

Production in the Dominguez field took a substantial jump last week with the completion by the Shell Company of its Reyes No. 4, with a production starting off at about 1500 barrels a day, but increasing in a few days to approximately 2000 barrels.

The Union Oil Company's Hellman No. 3 and Hellman No. 5 threatened to come in for a day or two, but after flowing by heads were muddied up and may be completed some time this week.

Except for the lone new well, there were no significant developments in the Dominguez area. The Shell's Childs No. 1, which has been milling on jammed casing for several weeks, has finally overcome the trouble and is standing with six-inch casing cemented at 3383 feet. During the early part of the week the Childs No. 2 was spudded in, offsetting the Carpenter well of the Superior Oil Company.

In the northern area the General Petroleum Corporation's wells are all idle with the exception of the White No. 1, which is now deeper than 500 feet with scant hope of yielding anything important enough to justify a production test, operators assert.

Santa Clara District Sees Much Leasing; New Hole Today

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
OXNARD, June 29.—Activity in oil drilling in the increasing south of the Santa Clara River in Ventura county. The K.A.P. Oil Company's No. 1 well on the Albert Miller ranch in the Las Posas district will be spudded in tomorrow. Peller has a large ranch in the Las Posas section which he leased to the Kitchen, Argood, Pruitt Oil Company.

Several other companies, embracing a total of 1600 acres, have been leased by this company, which is said to purpose making a thorough test of the field. The Peller well is two miles from Oak Ridge, on the other side of the Ventura river. The company, which already has many fine producing wells.

SHANNON IN TULARE

Ventura Operator to Drill on McLeod and Paris Ranch

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
PORTERVILLE, June 29.—Faith in the oil possibilities of Tulare county is seen in the entrance into the Porterville field of R. H. Shannon, oil operator of Ventura. Mr. Shannon has moved a rotary rig from Ventura to the McLeod and Paris ranch, directly south of the city, on the highway, and about a half-mile north of the Lois ranch well. A thorough test of the location is understood to be his plan. A number of Los Angeles and Ventura operators are associated with Mr. Shannon in this venture, which is a private enterprise. A log of the well will be kept, which can be checked inch by inch. Mr. Paris, one of the owners of the ranch, also is part owner of the Fifth Street Store in Los Angeles.

FIGHT FOR LIFE BY LIQUOR RING

Group Seeks Washington Aid in Stopping Inquiry

Rutter Force Avers 'Rabbit' Trafficking in Wine

Permit Quiz Shows Names to be Picked at Random

A gigantic liquor ring fighting for an uninterrupted continuance of its illegal trade in Southern California has carried its fight to Washington in an effort to prevent R. F. Rutter, state prohibition director, from rigidly enforcing the Volstead Act, according to J. Harper Shoop, acting agent-in-charge of the dry forces in this district.

Through a special investigation started in and about Los Angeles three weeks ago by Director Rutter, it has been disclosed that the ring on the one hand is represented by scores of men fraudulently representing themselves as salable in liquor, and on the other hand by winery owners disposing illegally of immense quantities of their product.

Director Rutter sent the special investigators to Los Angeles following information given to him by Agent Shoop. These investigators, Shoop said, have been working continuously during the past three weeks checking up lists of persons to whom wine has been distributed by the asserted rabbits. It has been disclosed, he said, that many of these lists are from 75 to 85 per cent fraudulent, containing names that evidently have been selected promiscuously from telephone directories and telephone books.

According to Agent Shoop and H. W. Hess, legal adviser of the federal prohibition department in California, it has been learned from Washington that the so-called rabbits whose practices are asserted to be fraudulent, have carried their influence to the national capital in an effort to put a stop to Director Rutter's investigation.

The widespread ramifications of the interests represented by the asserted rabbits, Mr. Hess said, apparently reach to a control of many winery owners.

That control of the most flagrant violations of the Volstead Act in Southern California is in the hands of one big ring, unscrupulous in its transactions, is indicated by information coming to light in the investigation of the murder of Frank Rinaldo and Filippo de Lido whose bodies were found recently in an automobile on a harbor road.

Information as to the activities of a liquor ring, as disclosed by an investigation of the murder, which has been conducted by Dep. Dist. Atty. Dennison, resulted in an order from Prohibition Director Rutter directing Mr. Hess to conduct a thorough investigation of the entire situation. According to the latter, information now in his hands will lead to the revocation of about 100 permits issued to winery owners in Southern California. Investigations have shown, he said, that huge quantities of wine have been illegally disposed of by these permit holders.

GARAGES, AUTOS BURNED

Three garages and two automobiles were destroyed in a fire last night, which started from an unknown cause. A garage, storehouse and an automobile belonging to S. C. Walker were burned at 151 East Sixtieth street and C. A. Edge lost a garage and storehouse at 351 East Sixtieth street and C. A. Edge lost a garage belonging to Mary E. Norris was destroyed at 254 East Fifty-ninth street. Losses were estimated at $2000.

FIREWORKS AT PLAYGROUNDS

July 4 Will be Observed in Fitting Manner at Various Centers

Fourth of July is to be observed on all city playgrounds, C. B. Raitt, director of the Playground Department, announced yesterday. Plans have been completed for programs for all recreation centers.

Each playground will observe the day with patriotic addresses, a flag-raising ceremony, athletic sports and contests, comic races and stunts and band and orchestra music. Fireworks will be enjoyed at several of the centers. A large display has been arranged for Echo Park.

Plans for the Echo Park grounds also include boat racing on the lake in the morning and community stunts in the evening.

Under the auspices of the Hollenbeck Heights Improvement Association a celebration will be held at Hollenbeck Park.

Philippine Home Faded by South, Say Fair Maids

Los Angeles is as beautiful as its name is melodious, but Los Angeles is this paradise of the Philippines faded to a pale pink, in the opinion of Misses Amparo and Leonor de la Rama, fair Filipinas who are here on a tour of the world.

At the Stowell, where the young women are guests, they expressed their appreciation of the charms of Southern California in general, and Los Angeles in particular, in no uncertain terms.

"We always thought no place in the world could compare with Los Angeles," quoth Miss Amparo, "but after seeing California we admit our error. We like everything here, the people, the marvelous roads, the blue sky, the flowers—everything is wonderful."

The young women said that their father, Jesus de la Rama, is the owner of a large sugar plantation at Ilo Ilo.

"All the children in our family are girls, six of us," said Miss Amparo. "Our father is getting old and eventually it will be up to us to manage the plantation. He concluded that, in order to complete our education, it would be well for all of us to take a trip around the world. He started with Leonor and myself, who are the oldest."

"We expect to be absent from home for two years, returning to Ilo Ilo by way of Suez. Then the two sisters next in age will start on a similar tour and after that, the two youngest."

PROSPERITY WAVE SEEN FOR MEXICO

Progress Will Continue, Says Schjetnan, Railway Head, Here on Business

All signs point to a continuation of the era of prosperity in Mexico that began with the administration of President Obregon. In the view of Christian Schjetnan, of Lake Chapala, president of the Lake Chapala and Guadalajara Railroad.

Mr. Schjetnan, now at the Biltmore, is in Los Angeles in the interests of the development work being carried on by his road in the Lake Chapala section.

"Mexico has advanced remarkably along all lines of endeavor during Obregon's term of office, especially in the case of the chaotic state of the country when he became Chief Executive," he said.

"The effects of the recent rebellion have died down and the country at this time is tranquil. I expect to see the election, which takes place on July 4, conducted peacefully. It seems to be the general opinion that Gen. Calles will be the new President and his election will insure continued peace."

Lake Chapala is the most important tourist resort in Mexico. Mr. Schjetnan said, and during the last season its hotels have been filled to overflowing with Americans and others spending the winter there. "The lake is one of the most picturesque bodies of water on the American Continent," he said. "It is situated at an altitude of several thousand feet, and is growing in popularity, not only as a place of winter residence, but as a summer resort, as well. At this time it is crowded with tourists from the interior, who come there to escape the summer heat of the lower altitudes."

SOUTHLAND ESTATE TAX $2,000,000

Operating of Change in Rate of Inheritance Levy is Explained

During the fiscal year ending today the estate tax paid the Federal government on Southern California estates amounted to $2,000,000, according to the collector of internal revenue. In explaining changes made in the estate tax rates by the 1924 Revenue Act, the collector pointed out that the tax on a $10,000,000 estate is now nearly $1,000,000 more than under the old law. The same amount of exemption is allowed on all estates.

On estates of more than $10,000,000, the old tax rate was 25 per cent, while the new rate is 40 per cent, the collector explained. The following table gives a comparison of the tax under the old law and the tax under the new law:

Value of estate.	Old tax.	New tax.
$1,000,000	$250,000	$400,000
$2,000,000	$500,000	$800,000
$3,000,000	$750,000	$1,200,000
$4,000,000	$1,000,000	$1,600,000
$5,000,000	$1,250,000	$2,000,000
$6,000,000	$1,500,000	$2,400,000
$7,000,000	$1,750,000	$2,800,000
$8,000,000	$2,000,000	$3,200,000

WOBBLIES' JAIL BREAK FOILED

Patrolman H. J. Swindle, head of the Wobblies detail at the harbor and active for several weeks in the prosecution of radicals, yesterday asked Capt. Hagenbach to transfer him from the radical detail to other work. The transfer is asked, he said, because his wife's health is seriously impaired because of worry occasioned by threats made by Wobblies against Swindle. Several men arrested recently as Wobblies were found to have Swindle's name written on notes in their possession. Swindle said he has been told by an employee of the harbor department that the Wobblies have threatened to "get him."

HOW BEE CUTS LEAVES

The leaf-cutting bee drills in a sand bank a hole ten inches deep and divides it into about a dozen compartments. Each cell is composed of pieces of leaf cut into proper shapes and carefully fitted. Rose leaves and sweet-pea leaves are among the favorites. Swine are perfect circles, while others are oblong figures. Having cut out the segment of leaf, an operation requiring about twenty seconds, the bee carries it to the sand bank and then returns for more. When the place has been nearly cut out, the bee, to prevent tearing, places itself in the air with its wings extended and completes the operation with a clean cut. [Exchange.]

HIS Zoological Dead-Line

The inquiring friend in process of being shown about the newly acquired country estate, stopped in amazement and demanded: What on earth are you doing with that zebra?

"Ah!" replied the host, amiably. "There's been so much talk about the danger of overindulgence in this new stuff that I thought I'd better provide myself with a stop signal, and that zebra is just the thing. When I see it all color, then I know I've had enough." [American Legion Weekly.]

Kin-kaid was half-back on the University of Southern California eleven years ago, but he holed out of the ship with a cane, a mere skeleton of his former self. "Malaria," he explained, "has shot mosquitoes with shotguns down there." Kin-kaid said he had malaria six times in the six months he was in Colombia. That's plenty, he opined, but he's already planning a trip to India.

Johnson, having escaped the fever, is going back where he says the Standard's field is destined to become a future world wonder. Already they are shipping out cases of kerosene and 1000 cases of gasoline daily, and a 400-mile pipeline is soon to be completed to deep water. He describes the company's holdings as hundreds of miles square and "hardly scratched."

Of the forty-two whites seeking admittance here, twenty were permitted to land, nine were held for the immigration board today, including Russians, Germans and Jugo-Slavs, and thirteen who were refused admittance in Mexico are to be sent to San Francisco where there are better facilities for handling their cases.

The liner will depart this morning for the Bay City and Japan with 2300 tons of nitrate of soda, beans, dried figs and hides, mostly for the Orient.

INNOVATION BY AUTO CLUB
Highway Patrol Service That Will Carry Emergency Aid to Members to Start Tomorrow

Setting a new pace for similar operations of the country the Southern California Automobile Club tomorrow will start a highway patrol service department. This innovation has been years in planning and is based on long experience in bringing to higher standards the activities of the Automobile Club. O. W. Lewis, for nine years identified with the touring service of the club, will be in charge.

The idea of the department is to carry the many services of the club to the highways where members may need assistance. The highway patrol service will run with the daily operation of a fleet of light trucks over the main traveled arteries of Southern California. These will run from Los Angeles to branch offices of the club, and will be driven by men qualified for this work.

The patrol service trucks will be uniform and decorated in club colors with adequate signs. The men will be uniformed and given special instruction by experts in the patrol services. They may be called upon to perform first aid treatment, and will receive instructions from authorities in directing and handling traffic.

California will be divided into districts, and each district will be covered by one or more of the patrol service cars. The functions of the patrol service will be that each driver will serve as an auxiliary of the theft department. They will be furnished, for distribution, lists of all stolen cars as soon as reported and will be virtually a flying squadron of detectives on the lookout for vehicles sought by the police.

In case of car trouble to members in distress on the highways, the patrols will furnish limited mechanical aid and oil and gasoline in case of emergency. They will carry fire extinguishers and first aid medical cabinets.

Additional service to motorists along the highways in need will be general information regarding directions, destinations, motor-vehicle laws, official garages, filling stations, official hotels, and the numerous other items that not only members on tour find helpful, but which are of definite high value to strangers visiting Southern California.

NEW BLOW AT ARROYO PARK SALE
Lincoln Heights Body to Protest to Council Today on Proposed Terms

Written protest against the terms under which it is proposed that the city shall acquire the holdings of the Los Angeles Rock and Gravel Company in the upper Arroyo Seco for park and playground purposes will be delivered to the City Council today. The company, through its president and chief stockholder, Henry W. Hawley, asks $350,000, of which $30,000 would be cash down and the remainder time payments, to be raised by the creation of an improvement district.

In a letter signed by H. F. Batchelor, president, the Lincoln Heights Commercial and Industrial Association assails the terms as "exorbitant" and an "outrage."

"We wish," says their protest, "to inform your honorable body that only a few months ago it was generally known that the Los Angeles Rock and Gravel Company offered to deed this tract to the city free gratis, and for them now to attempt to exact $350,000 from the city and for the burden of this taxation to fall on the property owners in the immediate vicinity of these holdings, we consider an outrage. You are no doubt aware of the fact that the present condition of this land, due to the extraction of gravel, has left the ground in a very unsightly condition and is a disgrace to any community."

"We wish to be understood that this organization is heartily in favor of having a park in this vicinity and even on these grounds, provided that the present owners do as they have previously proposed, but the association," the letter continues, "is bitterly opposed to pay such an exorbitant price, and requests an opportunity to be heard."

LEARN HOW TO PREVENT HOME FIRES

Washington (D. C.) Office of "The Times" Will Furnish Free Booklet

Fires break out in the United States on an average of one every minute.

Most of them could be prevented by ordinary intelligent care. This carelessness costs the nation every year more than the value of the combined production in gold, silver, copper and oil, and the toll of human lives is terrific.

You can have a free booklet illustrating graphically exactly what should be done to make your home safe and the lives of your family secure.

To obtain a copy print your name and address clearly on coupon, including 2-cent stamp for return postage, and send to Los Angeles Times Information Bureau, Washington, D. C. To avoid wrong delivery at Washington, use full address as given. Do not send to The Times' Los Angeles office.

POLICE FACE STONES AND AX ASSAULT

Recalcitrant Father of Suspected Sons Lands in Hospital After Fight

Patrolman Moore and Hensel of the Hollenbeck Heights Police station went to the home of Mike Kuakoff, a Russian, 176 North Glass avenue, to arrest the three Kuakoff sons, John, 18 years of age, Abraham 12, and Jake 10. The youngsters were accused of having broken into a fireworks storehouse. Mike greeted the officers surly, they say.

"Keeds no home; gone away," Well, the officers said, no harm to look around a bit since they were there.

Mike became angry and demanded to know if the officers had a warrant. Upon learning they had not, Mrs. Kuakoff, they say, rushed from the house armed with an ax and at the same time the smaller Kuakoffs made a startling appearance carrying sticks and stones. The wife surrendered the ax to Mike and the battle began. The sons added to it by flinging rocks and clubs, the officers maintain.

The fight ended with Mike and John going to the Receiving Hospital in the ambulance. Mike sustained a possible fracture of the skull and his son sustained injuries about the head and body. Mike is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and is in the County Hospital. The youths are charged with suspicion of burglary.

Mrs. Kuakoff was not charged with anything, but the police have the ax they say she brandished.

Bids for Flood Control Bonds Set for July 7

Bids for $5,000,000, par value, of the flood-control bonds authorized at the election May 6, last, will be opened by the Board of Supervisors July 7, next. The bonds bear 5 per cent interest and run forty years. In view of the rate and the rising market a substantial premium is expected to be offered in the bids. From the inquiries by bondholders, both local and eastern, widespread interest in the issue is indicated.

Although no definite plans have been made as yet, it is the expectation that the Supervisors will advertise for bids for the construction of the $12,750,000 Pacoima Dam as soon as receipts from this first offer of bonds are available.

The balance of the $25,000,000 flood-control bond issue will be offered for sale as the requirements of the construction program demand funds.

SIMPLE LIFE OF PROVENCE PEASANTS

HOUSE, SHADED LAUREL GROVE, GUSHING FOUNTAIN, STILL FOUND

The peasant of Provence, he he gardener or day-laborer, has perpetuated through the ages the traditions of this simple life.

His "mas" or house—an humble square of masonry with a flat roof of Roman tiles, brilliant in its fresh coat of whitewash or gay in its dress of paint, sky-blue, ochre, or Etruscan red—appears to be a reflection of the day itself, calm at dawn, warm at noontide or sun-down, framed in its olive terraces that rise one above the other to the chalky cliffs of the mountains.

This dwelling shelters not only the family but the animals as well, and the simple agricultural implements—the rudimentary plough, the great oil jars, the baskets for olives and flowers, and the paniers for the white-goat cheese. Near the house, also, is a threatening floor and a sort of courtyard wherein the harvest of roses and jasmine is gathered and the grapes during the vintage, and where, also, in the shade of a dusky arbor of sweet-smelling laurel, the family assembles during the hot hours of the day. This arbor affects either the form of a hollow cube or of a barrel open at both ends, or of a verdant tower that often guards as its companion a soaring cypress tree. But whatever its form may be, this outdoor room is the obligatory adjunct of the house, its rustic luxury.

Near to it, a fountain usually palpitates and murmurs, bringing to man, like the nymphs of old, coolness from the flanks of the mountain. Little stone niches or rocailles tell that, within the rocks, lie sheets of water that gurgles as they approach the orifice, covered with ferns and mosses, and whose mouth man has made more accessible by a shapely stone brim, or a grotesque eighteenth-century head, upon the one hand, into a lavoir, animated ever by the noisy tapping of the wooden paddles and the incessant prattle of the washer-woman; and, on the other, into irrigating ditches that refresh and fertilize the rows of terraces that flank the mountainides, captured at times in basins or in jars planted deep into the earth, until at last it falls in little cascades into the nearest torrent.

Here then are the three elements of ancient life, as sung by the poets that remain unchanged today: the simple house, the shaded laurel grove, and gushing fountain.

THE BETTER WAY

Every once in a while the postman brings me a letter asking for advice in answering want ads. But the same mail recently brought two for an article of this nature.

These questions do not match. I suggest "club" also because the envelope is longer than the regulation society note paper, and my notes are single. When using that kind of stationery you never should write on both sides of the page. Use cream or light gray; never use colored stationery for business.

Then I got some fresh ink to refill your fountain pen, or if you are using the ordinary pen, because the nib is new and smooth, and this seems unimportant, but clear ink and freedom from blotches and scratches will help the appearance of your letter, although yours may be "the worst fast in the world." Somebody has said that the worst letter is the one which complains of its tools." but it isn't easy to write if the ink is bad. So I suggest you get some other word.

When you are all ready take the ad and read it carefully. If it says "State age, experience and local references," be sure you furnish that information in the order it is wanted.

One of the difficult questions to answer is "state salary expected." If you've had good salaries in the past, in some other locality, you want to make a start here, then your former pay check may seem high. It has always seemed to me that this is also the advantage of letter expertise, that it is better to say, "May I ask that the matter be referred to the club?" than to say, "I have been paid $100 a month."

When advertising experts have "every letter is a salesman" on the one an "sage" lover on the other and sends by special delivery to the "Only Girl." Certainly I form an opinion of the writer from the kind of stationery as well as the way the letter is written and the penmanship is shown. We don't need to be advertising experts to know what that outturns the hand, the penmanship and the ink. I think you can write with deliberation. We also know that the person who has no unused hair dust of note-paper and pen with a dull hard pencil is not a good advertiser. These are just a few of things the advertiser sees in looks through the replies to "help wanted" ads. If you are going to answer an ad and want your letter to attract attention of the man or woman you select a good quality of paper with an envelope to

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor—Included please find eight cents in stamps for two pamphlets on reducing. I have sold mine to another person who is following your instructions. I did weight 252 and in six weeks I have reduced twenty-one pounds. I have heard your record does not bother me any more. I am feeling fine now. I have to reduce forty pounds more. It is a little harder now than it was at first.

"I hope you make good profit on the pamphlet. C. According to reports it is worth its weight in diamonds. I don't know what the office sent you two or not. The rule is to send only one to each inculcer (returning excess postage). We get orders for them by the dozen, and are asked to give them to institutions, clubs, and the like; but we can't do this as the pamphlets are intended only for readers of the newspapers which publish my daily articles.

"It is my hope that you will reduce after the first excess fat is off, but don't be discouraged. Even though you lose only one pound, it is a pound. You will be fifty-two pounds—and that's some loss!

"Dear Sir—I intend to study law and find that my greatest handicap is my voice. Whenever I talk in public I have a very real trouble in being understood. My na passages in the nose become a very loud voice sound very crackling. It is hard for others to understand me and I find it both embarrassing and troublesome.

"Dear Sir—About all I know concerning the throat, I included some articles we published recently in a health and diet pamphlet form now; they will sent you on receipt of the required s.a.e. At your age, there is no reason to believe that you are in any danger of losing your voice because of your falling hair. If you had a physical examination your voice condition will probably straighten out in a short time.

"You perhaps are not out of period of adolescence where cracking, creaking, crackling, occasionally, may change to adult man's voice. The way describe it, it would seem that it is a little like a crackling noise. It might have something to do with the condition. Practice in your room reciting—slowly and distinctly—some of the things you keep yourself in the best of your

"Dear Doctor—My adenoids and enlarged tonsils have been a great trouble to me from the mouth open, if they are enlarged enough—so that the throat passage is obstructed. If this condition is allowed to continue, a grave physical and mental retardation may be manifest. Deformation of the nose and mouth and chest and general deterioration, such as malnourishment, anemia, bad wetting, nervousness and many other symptoms can result. The enlarged tonsils and adenoids do not abate by living out of doors in the fresh air, with exercises and proper diet, they must be surgically removed. There is nothing so striking in the improvement of the child after the removal of obstructive tonsils and adenoids.

"Dear Doctor—I write you this day, because I have been suffering greatly in the spirit of the public and individual benefactors. My purpose is two-fold—

"I am a young man 18 years of age. My hair is falling out and is rapidly receding on my crown. Kindly advise me what I should do.

"Also I find a great deal of trouble with my speech. My voice is distinguished New England ancestry. Mr. and Mrs. Miles Rost will make their home in Alhambra, and have

JAPANESE GIVEN
JOLT BY WOMANWidow of American Offers to Sell MachineryOriental Mind Stunned by Such EnterpriseShe Lays Acts of Revenge to Lower Classes

The heads of various large Japanese paper mills were jolted out of their oriental calm recently when a happy American business woman approached them and said she represented sundry American firms manufacturing machinery and other equipment for paper mills and that she was prepared to sell them anything they might want in this line. It was a novel idea, this purchasing equipment from a woman, and the Japanese couldn't see it and so informed the lady, courteously but firmly, adding in suave phrases that in their view the woman's place is in the home.

This is what, in Mrs. Jeanette H. Wadsworth of Tokyo and New York told of her first experience in sales representative in Japan. Mrs. Wadsworth, who is at the Ritz-Carlton, arrived from Tokyo yesterday on her way to her New York headquarters.

"So far as I know I am the only American woman sales agent in Japan representing American machinery manufacturers," said Mrs. Wadsworth. "I took up the business upon the death of my husband soon after the earthquake. He had represented American firms in Japan for many years and had no other in Tokyo. From my association with him I was thoroughly familiar with every item of the work and saw to reason why I should not continue it."

"I had much difficulty in convincing my prospective customers that a woman could be familiar with anything so foreign to the Japanese mind as paper-making machinery, but I finally succeeded and have made good. Japanese business men are exceedingly cautious and it required considerable effort to persuade them that I knew what I was talking about. But I finally did convince them and the business has been going smoothly ever since."

Mrs. Wadsworth was in Tokyo during the recent anti-American demonstrations there following the adoption of the exclusion clause by Congress. She says that the feeling against Americans is confined mainly to the lower classes of the Japanese and that the demonstrations are condoned by the rest of the population.

UPPER CLASS CALM

"I should say that the persons most bitter against America would correspond to the I. W. W. element in the United States," she explained. "The more substantial people, while they resent the somewhat peremptory manner in which exclusion was brought about, are able to see the country's side of the question, but they do not favor retaliatory measures. These are advocated by the uneducated and, thinking of the millions of the population, whose sentiments are based not on an understanding of the situation, but rather on a desire to cause any living being to create a disturbance. In my opinion, the whole thing will blow over in a few months and relations between the United States and Japan will be as friendly as before."

REVISED BOOK

"They entered the dining-room where many Americans were assembled and ordered the dishes served and also took up the shouts of American men from which the orchestra was playing," she said. "Then they sang the Japanese anthem and afterward gave a demonstration of a Japanese sword dance, the significance of which apparently was to impress on the minds of the guests that Japan was prepared to resort to the sword. But there was no violence and after a time the demonstrators departed peacefully."

SHE SAYS

"She said a boycott of American goods had been declared in Japan as a result of the exclusion of American goods from which the orchestra was playing," she said.

FIREWORKS

ARE BANNED
IN FORESTSGuards to Inspect Autos
Entering National Areas

on July Fourth

No one will be permitted to carry fireworks into the Angeles National Forest on the Fourth of July, according to an announcement by E. H. Charlton, supervisor of the forest. The largest force of extra men ever employed to inspect vehicles and pedestrians entering the forest on that day will be stationed along all the roads and trails next Friday. Supervisors Charlton said. Orders will be issued to these men to seize all forms of fireworks in the possession of persons entering the forest.

"The necessity for care this year is greater than ever before," Mr. Charlton said. "The forest roads are lined with dry grass and brush. In the absence of rain I have been connected with the forestry department here this is the first time I have seen the brush drying for lack of water to such an extent as now. Serious fires are liable to start at a moment's notice and we need the assistance of everyone in protecting against them."

Fourth of July we seized two truckloads of fireworks from persons entering the San Gabriel Canyon.

Forest rangers and guards are giving particular attention to persons obtaining permits to burn camp fires. Numerous fires have been annexed in the last three weeks in places where such fires have been left burning. The maximum fine provided for each offense is $250.

COURT TO HEAR OF POKER PARTY

Trial of Man and Woman for Robbery Opens Today

State Will Seek to Prove
Collusion by Pair

Hold-up on Lonely Road Was
"Framed," is Charge

Details of what happened at a "poker" party, which is said to have been followed by a robbery, will be told today when the trial of Marshall J. ("Red") Oakes and Mrs. Dot Holt begins in Judge Reeve's court. The two are accused of the robbery on April 11, last, of Mrs. Lucy Stevens, who is said to have lost about $1000 worth of diamonds and jewelry and $100 in cash when she was held up and robbed on a lonely road between Inglewood and Venice.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Van Coten, who will prosecute the case, said that he will try to prove that Mrs. Stevens was invited by Mrs. Holt to go riding in an auto, that they attended a poker party in Los Angeles and then drove to the home to Venice by way of Inglewood.

It is charged that Mrs. Holt, who was driving, drove the car so slowly that a bandit, said to be Oakes, stepped on the running board of the car and came in to drive to a side road. Without further ado, it is said, Mrs. Holt drove the car 100 yards and stopped. Then at the command, "Rich 'em up," Mrs. Holt is said to have turned off the car lights. Mrs. Stevens was relieved of her valuables, a promise to be made to have been made of robbing Mrs. Holt.

The two women returned to Venice. A few days later Oakes and Mrs. Holt were arrested in San Francisco, where they had driven in Mrs. Holt's car. One of the guns was recovered. It was stated, in San Francisco, that it was intended that a surprise may be sprung by the police when the case comes to trial today. Defense attorneys are Matt Coleman and A. S. Hale.

CONTEST IS FOR YOUNG MUSICIANS

Conductor at Hollywood
Bowl Offers Opportunity to Youthful Artists

Who are the most talented young musicians in Southern California?

Alfred Hart, conductor of the Hollywood Bowl summer concert orchestra, wants to know. He will give the winners of a Young Artists' contest which he is arranging places as soloists on his programs for the final week of the 1924 season, late in August.

While details have not been completed, Dr. Hart today announced that he desires to make this feature the crown jewel of the whole summer and hopes to discover some real talent. He will not admit two winners each week for hearing the young pianists, violinists and singers.

All applicants between the ages of 14 and 21 years are eligible to compete. The age limit is placed so high because Hart wishes to find a certain amount of technique developed as well as natural ability. The contest is in no sense one for children, but for young people who are ambitious to go ahead in the musical world and have been awaiting some such opportunity as this for recognition of their talent.

Similar to the one held in the New York Stadium concert contest will be applied and judges will be named August 15 and consist of three composers, pianists, vocalists and instrumentalists.

The first Hollywood Bowl concert of the season will be held on Tuesday evening, July 2. The season closes August 19 and consists of three concerts. Musical books of forty tickets are on sale for 125 while the contest is in progress will cost 10 cents. The first rehearsal will be held tomorrow at 9 a.m.

Boy Scouts Go for Outing at Camp Radford

Filling several special Pacific Electric trains, hundreds of Boy Scouts were to depart shortly after daybreak today for the San Bernardino Mountains for the first of the two summer Council camps.

Many other Scouts were to leave for individual troop camps scattered over many parts of the State.

The first of the Council camps, to open today at Radford, will last for two weeks and in addition to the many usual activities, there will be featured study and tests for merit badges in bird study, athletics, camping, conservation, first aid, forestry, hiking, life saving, personal health, physical development, pioneering, signaling, swimming and other subjects.

When the special trains reach San Bernardino, the luggage and camp paraphernalia was to be unloaded on auto trucks and the Scouts were to be taken to the mountains, destined for a point five miles from Big Bear Lake. In charge of the train is Scout Executive R. B. De Groot, assisted by Chief Camp Director C. E. Hanson, Chief Camp Instructor Murray Lee, and a number of assistant camp directors for each squad of sixty Scouts and several Scout Masters.

The second Council campment will be held in August at Camp Seeley.

CANARY HAS RIVAL
Canaries, long the pet of bird fanciers, are being replaced by a new species of bird, not properly called the "love bird," because of its devotion to its mate. Scientifically it is known as the budgerigar. A pair of these birds will sell at close to $1000, though some may be bought for $5 or thereabouts (Exchange).

LONE BANDIT ROBS TWO OIL STATIONS

Two filling stations of the Shell Company were held up by the band Saturday night by a lone Mexican bandit. The first robbery took place at the station on Lapez street where the attendant, Mr. Smith, was relieved of about $18.

Ten minutes later the same bandit appeared at the station at Santa Fe and Sacramento avenues where he covered the manager, John Ward, with a revolver. The bandit grinned as he took $60 from the register.

When he expected to see you here again," he remarked affably to Ward. The manager recognized the robber as the same one who held up the station on Lapez street.

A Seelig grocery store at Forty eighth street and Moneta avenue was held up Saturday night and looted. The robbery took place last night and was participated in by John Ward, who held up the store clerk in the store.
